Please amend ¶ [54] as follows:

[54] In step 2, the third (3rd) party provider 145 may set up the new third (3rd) party channel 141 in response to the request. In step 3, the third (3rd) party provider 145 may deliver the new third (3rd) party channel 141 to PC 143 over the media exchange network 140 via the Internet-based media exchange network infrastructure 142. A user of PC 143 may view the new third (3rd) party channel 141 as it appears in their television channel guide user interface 149 on a monitor coupled to the PC. The television channel guide user interface 149 and channel set up functionality may be provided by the media exchange software (MES) platform 150 within the PC 143. Media channels which may be presented in a channel view such as personal media channels, friends' and family's media channels, and third (3rd) party media channels, may be generically referred to as customized media channels. A personal communication channel may also be a customized media channel or a customized communication channel. United States Patent Application Serial No. [[____]] 10/675,467 (Attorney Docket No. 14278US02) provides a channel view and customized media channels and is incorporated herein by reference in its entirety.
